

CELEBRITY WATCH

It's time again to catch up on who's been seen in Milwaukee hottest entertainment district!

Thursday, January 4th, 2007 - Make way for the King! That's right LeBron James was seen in the upper level of Carnevor steakhouse. Teammates Damon Jones and Drew Gooden stopped by Tangerine to experience Milwaukee's hottest place on Thursday nights.

Thursday, January 25th, 2007 - NBA All-Star Amare Stoudemire enjoyed dinner at Carnevor with his business manager and friends. Meanwhile, teammates Kurt Thomas and Jermaine Jones ate wings and watched the nights NBA games on TNT in the loft at Kenadees. They all met up with NBA All-Star Steve Nash and teammates Raja Bell, Leandro Barbosa, Pat Burke and the one and only "Thunder" Dan Majerle at Tangerine to hang-out in the VIP together.

Thursday, February 1st, 2007 - Milwaukee Bucks franchise player Michael Redd joined Tom and a few friends for quick bite to eat at Carnevor. Michael dined on the steak salad, which has been hailed as one of the best salads in the city.

Friday, February 2nd, 2007 - The temperature was cold but the Heat was in the building. NBA superstar Shaquille O' Neal ate with four friends at Carnevor Steakhouse. On his way out he bumped into an old friend Grammy award winning R&B singer Eric Benet. They saw each other and both said "what are you doing here." They then laughed and talked for a few minutes. Tom, Tony and Carmelo celebrated their birthdays again with the annual BLACK party. Miami Heat players Antoine Walker, Gary Payton and Earl Barron attended the event. Eric Benet and members of his band also stopped by the party.

Until next time...
